SUIT ATTACKS LEGALITY OF CITY ZONING

Mandamus Action Brought by R. C. Wolfel for Filing Station Permit

REJECTED BY COUNCIL

Site at Main and Columbia Sts. Classified in Residential District

Constitutionality of the city zoning ordinance will be tested as the result of a mandamus action filed yesterday afternoon by R. C. Wolfel, local welder and automobile repairman. Wolfel has filed suit to force S. J. Keller, city clerk, to issue a building permit for the erection of a gas oil filling station in what is known as the residence district of the city. The suit is the outgrowth of Wolfel's failure to obtain a building permit from the city officials for the erection of the filling station on the southwest corner of Main and Columbia sts.

Wolfel's first move to obtain approval of the project was blocked when the city planning commission took adverse action on his petition to have the Main st. location transferred from the residence section to the commercial section. This petition was filed with the planning commission about two months ago.

Four signers of the petition were killed by four property owners in the vicinity of the Main and Columbia intersection. At its first meeting after the petition was filed the planning commission refused action until other property owners expressed their sentiment on the proposal.

At the next meeting of the commission 25 objections to the transfer were filed. Three of those who signed the petition are now in jail.

SHOWDOWN IN P. O. CONTEST DUE THURSDAY

Meeting of G. O. P. Committee Called To Name Caldonia Postmaster

SECRET BALLOT

Action Taken by Chairman

Protestant on Request from Congressman

The Caldonia postoffice situation which has stirred Caldonia residents and Marion county Republican circles is expected to come to a head Thursday night. The situation will at least come to a close so far as the Marion county Republican executive committee is concerned.

A meeting of the committee has been called for 8 o'clock Thursday night to endorse a candidate for the postmaster position. The committee's choice is expected to govern the action of Congressman Grant J. Mowbray Jr. who will recommend the appointment to President Hoover.

Chairman Issues Call

The committee meeting was called this morning after R. L. Prettman, chairman, received instructions from the congressman to call the committee together. The instructions (repeated to the chairman) were as follows: Call committee meeting immediately and advise of results.

Instructions to Prettman came yesterday afternoon in prompt response to a communication from the chairman to Mowbray.

Indications were today that efforts would be made to avoid debate on the question by committee members. In discharge of Miss Harriet Nesbit or R. L. Prettman the two leading applicants will be sought on a secret ballot. Mowbray's committee stated this morning.

Three Names on Ballot

The ballots will contain three names: however, besides those of Miss Nesbit and Underwood Howard, there is one name which will appear on the ballots. Any one of the three is eligible for appointment, having received the highest grades in the civil service examination held Feb. 10.

But, however, has apparently withdrawn from the race in favor of Miss Nesbit.

The meeting of the committee Thursday night will be held in the public hall in the Marion building, Spring and Loan Co. building on East Center st.

FAILS TO APPOINT TEACHER, IS SHOT

Ohio Village School Board Member Wounded by Sister-in-Law, Police Say

NEWARK, June 5.—Dr. Charles C. Garrett of Frazerburg, near here, is in City hospital here today suffering from a bullet wound in the abdomen which police say was inflicted by his sister-in-law, Allen Little, 31, a 19-year-old school teacher in Frazerburg, and a sister-in-law of the wounded man.

The shooting climaxed a quarrel which lasted several days according to police.

Mr. Little's name was not included in the list of teachers for next year. It was said Dr. Garrett is a member of the school board in that Muskingum county town. The altercation is said to have been a result of the non-appointment of Mrs. Little.

The woman it is said is a divorcee. She made her home with the Garretts.

According to the meager details of the shooting, Mrs. Little attempted to fire at the physician a second time but he succeeded in tearing the gun from her hands.

He will recover from his wound, hospital officials here said.

Mrs. Little is not being located by police up until noon today.

LENDEL LOSES HIS FIGHT FOR REINSTATEMENT

Ohio Supreme Court Upholds Stark County Refusal of Back Salary

END OF LONG BATTLE

Canton Police Chief Removed Upon Murder of Don M. Mellett

COLUMBUS, June 5.—The Ohio supreme court today rejected the plea of former Police Chief S. A. Lengel, Canton, for reinstatement and for payment of his back salary, at the rate of $2,700 a year.

Following the assassination of Don M. Mellett, Canton newspaper editor, in July 1928, former Mayor S. M. Swartz, Canton, on Aug. 21, 1928, removed Lengel who was accused of incompetency, inefficiency, neglect of duty, failure to enforce the laws, knowingly permitting law violators to loiter about police headquarters and failure to make or cause to be made, proper investigation of the Mellett murder.

The Canton civil service commission on Sept. 23, 1928, affirmed the mayor's action. Sept. 31, Lengel appealed to the Stark county common pleas court for reinstatement and for payment of back salary, naming Swartz and members of the commission as defendants.

The supreme court today upheld the judgment of the Stark county court in affirming the action of Swartz and the commission.

Lengel some months ago was acquitted of the charge of murder in connection with the death of Mellett.

YOUNG WOMAN SHOT BY DERANGED PRIEST

Pastor Takes Own Life After Firing Shot into Girl's Body

NEWARK, N. J., June 5.—Miss Helen Hallen, pretty 22-year-old church worker, was near death in St. Michael's hospital here today from two bullet wounds inflicted by the Rev. Paul Michaelis, 37, former pastor of a Tenth Avenue Catholic church, after she had rejected his advances.

The priest, who had apparently been deranged by over study, fired a bullet from his brain twice. He died shortly after he had been rushed to the hospital.

The shooting took place last night at the Harrison, N. J. home of Mrs. Rosa Silka, a friend of the girl. Father Michaelis, who had been in Chicago and in Amsterdam, N. Y., had been conversing with Miss Hallen in the parlor. According to Mrs. Silka, the priest asked the girl for a kiss and was rebuffed. Then the girl screamed as three shots rang out. Father in the day the priest had told an associate, the Rev. George Fitzpatrick, that the Holobekas were after him. Police believe he became deranged suddenly.

NEW FARM AID ACT IS GIVEN APPROVAL

Three Weeks' Conference Row Ended by Senate and House Committee

WASHINGTON, June 5.—A new farm relief act with the export duty plan eliminated but creating a $500,000,000 federal farm board for the relief of agriculture was approved today by the senate and house conference, ending a three-week conference row.

The debatement which the senate added to the bill over the opposition of President Hoover but which the house refused to consider was stricken from the measure by a vote of eight to two. The five house members and three senate members, McNary, Republican of Oregon, Capper, Republican of Kansas, and Keadell, Democrat of Louisiana, voted to eliminate the debatement. McNary, Republican of North Carolina, Smith, Democrat of South Carolina, voted to retain it.

The bill as finally approved by the conference would establish a federal farm board of nine members, including the secretary of agriculture, to direct the government's agricultural relief operations.

Winning Plane in Boys' Meet Flies 2 Minutes

Robert Carlisle, a student at Harding high school, won the Square Heads' club trophy for his school by winning the Boys' Week aviation meet held last night at the Central Junior high school grounds and the Aronhalt lot on North Prospect. He won first place in both time and distance and was a close second on workmanship.

Harry Edsall, also a Harding student, won second place in the meet, placing second to Carlisle in distance and time and taking first in workmanship. Harold Houchlin, of the eighth grade at Central, was third.

Carlisle's homemade plane stayed in the air for more than two minutes, according to the official watches. This far outclassed any other plane entered. Edsall, who won the Scoutmasters' aviation trophy last week for his Boy Scout troop, was not able to attain the height last night that he did at the previous meet.

Final Award
The Square Heads' award is the last trophy of Marion's observance of National Boys' week to be given out. The meet was supposed to have been run off during boys' week here but the weather was too rough.

The planes last night were entirely homemade and constructed with rubber motors.

Carlisle's plane started from the middle part of the Central school grounds and circled about field for a minute and a half before it shot across the railroad tracks and crashed on top of the ice plant.

you can't substitute adjectives for engineering

When somebody invents a car that will run on superlative adjectives, the motoring millennium will surely be with us.

Up to date, however, the efforts to substitute adjectives for engineering have been such dismal failures that the verbally-operated car still seems a long way off.

So until the "hot-air" motor is perfected, the Chrysler-built De Soto Six will continue to depend on its engineering and leave the adjectives to the other fellow.

Because it is typically Chrysler-engineered, De Soto Six already has achieved an admirable record of economy and durability. It has earned the praise of thousands upon thousands of owners by its gratifying performance, its handling ease and its low cost of operation and maintenance.

In addition to its ability to perform and keep on performing, it is handsome and comfortable. Chrysler-designed weather-proof brakes give it exceptional safety.

Here is a six-cylinder car priced well below $1,000 that inspires real pride of ownership in any company. The purchase of a De Soto Six is the kind of economy dictated by wisdom and not necessity.

Before you take a demonstration just ask yourself what a motor car ought to do. You will find that De Soto Six, point for point, pleasingly exceeds all your expectations.

"Be a Snob."

Professor Robert Edmund Rogers, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has called out much newspaper comment and far from a little by other educators as a result of his address before the members of the graduating class of that institution, this week
in which he urged them to be snobs.

"Be a snob," Professor Rogers told the seniors. "You will find it just as easy to marry the boss' daughter as the stenographer.
Dress, speak and act like a gentleman and you will be surprised at the amount of murder you can get away with."

"Never buy a suit of clothes unless you get an extra pair of trousers. Keep one suit of clothes pressed every week. Never buy shoes unless you buy shoe trees for them. Keep them shined, shave yourself and never wear
the same collar at night which you will wear
all day."

Harvard college, the professor declared, has received more publicity and money than any other American university because Harvard has never stopped "putting up a front, never gives in, never argues, blandly going
on its way."

The generally-accepted definition of "snob"
is "one who makes birth or wealth the sole criteria of worth, and is clinging to superstitions and overbearing with inferiors in position." Then there is another—"Any vulgar pretender to gentility."

Professor Rogers certainly could not have had either of these definitions in mind. Elber would be inconsistent with his advice to the class, which was in fact, if one will but think it over. In fact, it is better than the average run given to graduating classes, for it's practical, easily understood, and very timely in this day and age when it seems to be the ambition of the average college youth to do the bizarre and unsightly
and violate every creed on color combinations.

It's our guess that the professor thought that the time was ripe for attracting the rays
of the publicity spotlight, if not to himself,
to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology,
and used the word "snob" to accomplish that end. If such were his purposes, there can be no question but that he has accomplished
it to the utmost and at the same time made some very sensible suggestions to the young men and youths of the land which, save for the use of the word "snob," probably never would have reached them.

Real Naval Reduction.

Within forty-eight hours of the delivery of his Memorial day address, in which he held that the specter of war could be eliminated from the world only by actually reducing armaments, President Hoover, as an earnest of the good faith of this country and to test the good faith of other powers, temporarily halted our cruiser-building program upon the assurance that Great Britain and the other great naval powers will in the very near future enter a conference looking to drastic reductions in naval armaments.

Neither treaties nor limitation of armaments, the president asserted in his Memorial day address, will suffice to minimize the menace of future wars so long as the great nations of the earth continue to increase their naval armaments by competitive building for aggressive warfare. It was in this belief that he voiced the hope of this country that the powers would take such action as to remove the awful burden of great navies imposed upon their people. He made plain that the United States was eager to restrict her naval armament, but made equally plain that, if the other powers were not so inclined, this country was prepared to go ahead with her full program for the construction of seventy-one fighting ships of various designs and the expenditure of $1,170,000,000 within the next fifteen years instead of the plan, temporarily suspended, for fifteen cruisers and one aircraft carrier at a cost of $274,000,000.

At the same time, President Hoover, evidently taking a lesson from the Washington conference looking to naval disarmament,
gave notice that this country does not propose to be outgeneraled again as we were then. Contrary to all the British propaganda since put out, we, and we alone, did about all the disarming job. We acted in good faith and sacrificed millions of dollars in up-to-date warships in course of construction.
The sacrifices of other powers were practically limited to obsolete vessels, which would have been liabilities rather than assets in the first line of battle. He made plain that the American idea of gauging the fighting value of warships must be followed. Its essentials being: the speed and cruising radius of ships, the gun range, the convenience of naval bases and supplies, the coasts and the merchant fleets to be convoyed
and protected, and the merchant vessels which may be converted into cruisers and naval auxiliaries. In other words, this country will have no more of the tonnage yardstick for the measuring of fighting ships.

How was this presidential insistence is was demonstrated in a Washington wire, sent out the day the temporary suspension of the building of our cruisers was ordered, in which facts concerning the British super-warships, Rodney and Nelson, were revealed.
These vessels, although they have a displacement only 2,100 tons greater than the 32,500 tons of our latest and most powerful battleship, the West Virginia, carry nine sixteen-inch rifles to eight on the West Virginia; have six and a quarter inches deck armor, one inch more than our newest battleship; their belt armor of fourteen inches is increased to sixteen over vital parts, three inches more than on our vessels, and they can steam twenty-three knots in the twenty-one knots of any of our late battleships. Yet, neither under the tonnage method of computing warship strength, would count much more than any one of eight or nine of our battleships which do not compare with them in offensive and defensive qualities or in speed.

In other words, President Hoover urges drastic naval reduction, but he wants it understood that the next reduction agreed upon must not be limited to reduction on our part;
that, though we were duped once, we will not be duped again.

A week before their graduation two Grinnell college seniors were arrested for robbing didn't pay in their cases.

tured in an attempt to hold up a South

It is now said that Attorney General
Mitchell pressed the way for the exit of Mrs.
Mabel Littlebrandt from the department of justice by letting it be known that she would not be in charge of prohibition enforcement, as she is said to have anticipated. That's political strategy for you. Her resignation stopped the charge that she was forced out, and the fact that the attorney general is a pronounced dry bars the charge of wet influence.

New York City experienced a temperature

recent slump in stocks.

Fredrick W. Peacock, managing director consideration of War Debts, asks Britishers over in London: "What man of fair mind and honorable instincts can say the United States has not exacted the role of a cruel, harsh extortioner in the matter of so-called war debts?" Sad to say, we have other peac-heads over here in America.

In the hope of saving life at sea in time of accidents, an agreement, that all passenger ships must carry lifeboats for all aboard with rafts in addition and that all vessels excepting cargo ships of less than 1,600 tons
in displacement must be equipped with wireless, has been agreed to by all the world's maritime nations of any consequence save Russia. Naturally, some Russia has little consideration for human life, having devoted much of her attention to its destruction.

CHOOSE TO RUN."

Prompt Aid Keeps Infant Happy.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

You must not look upon a baby's crying as a matter of no significance. A young baby has not yet learned the awful things it will indulge in later. In infancy the child reacts naturally and normally to the trained observer. Every one of its performances has some definite meaning.

The loving and alert mother can learn a lot from the cry of her baby. The cry tells her what a wrong and, in most instances, what should be done to remove the cause of trouble.

The cry of a healthy child is full and clear.
It is not muffled or subdued. It is not a wail or a moan. It is an honest-to-goodness yell.

There is nothing modest or retiring about a normal infant. When it is displeased or in pain, it does not hesitate to vocalize its protest.

When you and I weep, great tears roll down our cheeks and splash on the floor. When a young infant cries there are no tears. Not until it is three or four months old do real tears appear. The eyes may appear moist, but there is no flow of water.

When the child grows older the tears are observed. When the age of three or four months is reached their absence is worthy an explanation.
After they once begin to flow, if the child is sick and the tears disappear, it is a sign of serious illness. You may be reassured and confident that recovery is on the way when they reappear.

Certain diseases the child may be very sick and yet cry but little. For instance, in pneumonia or bronchitis, in any disease where the free passage of air in the lungs is interfered with, there may be little crying, even if there is a good deal of pain.
The baby can not stop breathing long enough to cry—it requires all the remaining air space to get oxygen into the lungs. Instinctively the infant refrains from crying.

In conditions where there is great loss of physical strength, in all the debilitating diseases,
there may be no weeping, rather than weeping.
The child is too weak to cry.

The cry of a baby may be annoying at times, but it has a real significance always. The mother must learn just what it means. When she has done this she will be able to make the baby comfortable and happy—and the baby never is comfortable and happy when it is crying.

Editorial Opinion.

LOADING A TARIFF WITH POLICE POWER.

As far back as 1883, at least, the tariff offered a means of enforcing the police power against pornography. The bill signed by President Arthur emphasized the point when it placed in one of the early paragraphs of the section relating to "Duties
on Imports" the following: "All persons are prohibited from importing into the United States from any foreign country any obscene book, pamphlet,
paper, writing, advertisement, circular, print, picture, drawing, or other representation, figure, or image on or of paper or other material, or cast, instrument, or article of an immoral nature." Besides forfeiture of the subject, the penalty included a maximum fine of $5,000, or imprisonment for ten years at hard labor, or both.

The measure presents some curious features. It was the bill which resulted from the report of the special tariff commission, the only instance of that process in American history. It was called on "to reduce internal revenue taxation and for other purposes." The "other purposes" comprised the levy of customs duties. Today a tariff program carries its own title and is not an adjunct of internal revenue legislation. A Pennsylvania law with such a careless title would probably be decried in the courts here.

But that practice has changed in some of these formalities, it has become more intense in certain intrinsic aspects of federal jurisprudence. One example is the expansion in the Hawley bill of the ban on obscenity to include works that might include sedition. To what extent the powers of moral censorship in fiscal legislation might have been invoked in Victorian days is hardly remembered now.
Probably the right was granted largely for discretionary use to meet contingencies not otherwise covered in the criminal code.

But that is not the modern attitude. Lately
we have seen the customs authorities confiscate two classic pieces of literature on the ground that they violated this feature of the tariff act. Evidently officialdom does not believe in the luxury of a reversed power. It does not believe in such a thing as discretionary power. It applies the letter of the law to the limit. It is untroubled by the free folkways which have come over us since the war. One wonders whether our grandmothers would blush more over our frankness of speech than the absurd lengths to which we go in trying by legal means to repress such frankness.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

SPECULATION AND TRADE.

A combinator of American investment bankers points out that the preeminence enjoyed by this country in the international capital market during the past decade is threatened by high money rates.
Concrete support for this statement is found in the falling-off of foreign investments in the United States, where the terms obtainable are no longer as favorable as those that can be had in foreign money markets.

This may appeal to those who have only just learned to invest in their own securities and have no conception of the broader implications of foreign investment, as a matter of no importance; but it is only necessary to remember that it has been Great Britain's vast investments in other countries that have carried it through a prolonged period of industrial depression, to realize that investments abroad have a value peculiar to themselves. Among other things they attract business to the creditor country. They give an exporting nation an advantage in the markets of the borrower. Great Britain has used them for generations to open and hold outlets for its surplus production.

Anything that prevents the United States from employing the same means to obtain foreign markets or to enlarge those it already has is a distinction in its favor. The country must choose between expanding its export trade and falling back on less than capacity production, which involves less than capacity exports. The impairment of our foreign markets by high tariff schedules is a less serious menace than the prevention of American capital
going abroad.—Detroit Free Press.

New York Day by Day.

BY G. O. MINTFIRE.

New York, June 5.—An increasing demand for mystery and detective stories is being met by the publishers of the city. Almost every popular magazine is in the market for a bang-up hair-raiser, and those who can turn them out are not worrying about the coming of winter.

Edgar Wallace is not only the best-selling novelist in England, but his shockers have a wide sale in America. E. Phillips Oppenheim could not fill his orders for international intrigue in twenty years. And William Harrison Wright as S. S. Van Dine is one of the literary sensations of the hour.

So great is the demand on publishing houses organized a subsidiary known as "The Crime Club, Inc." through which it purports to give the subscribers their newest mysteries two weeks in advance of publication. It is reported to have several thousand steady clients.

Men like Premier Baldwin, of England,
Woodrow Wilson, Theodore Roosevelt and Herbert Hoover have given impetus to the craze by letting it be known they found recreation in mysteries. On almost every great man's night table these days is a blood-andthunderer.

There is perhaps no mental relaxation superior to following the slick crook from crime to crime, guessing who plugged the dagger or who has the pearls. A justice of the supreme court often turns from a knotty legal tangle to plunge headlong into a detective story.

The trouble now is the market has been flooded with shoddy trash. Mystery varies in their striving to thrill and terror has become as market as the old penny dreadful.
I know one writer who turned out four full length mystery novels in fifteen days.

No writer can grind out so much work with any degree of excellence. The fact is that in the hundreds of detective tales the last year not more than six could stand off the yawn—as a mystery reader, I recall only three that kept me up—"The Hellman Trial,"
"The Murder on the Blue Train" and "The Cadbury Murder Case."

There is a story of a friend calling up a mystery story writer. A servant explained he was just starting a new detective story.

"O. A. right," said the friend, "I'll wait."

Broadway's new gastronomic diversion
for stay-at-homes who patronize the pineapple, orange and apple juice but is the shingleless hot-dog sandwich. I don't know who thought up skunking the hot dog, but it is a beauty.

The biggest night club spender is a teetotaler. He has the Diamond Jim Brady philosophy about Broadway: "It's fun being a sucker if you can afford it." His reservation in a year's time amounted to more than $10,000 for convert charges alone. A big spender, he totals his checks and always catches split pencil additions.

I'm not great shakes in letting myself go in sentiment, and furthermore it is none of my business, but I'd like to take that spendthrift for a ride on an elevated train crawling his serpentine way through a congested section down town. He could gaze into many cheerless and curiously flat where the price of one concert would bring great happiness—more happiness indeed than buying out a club for the night for a lot of unappreciative parasites.

Over the portals of a burlesque theater on Houston street is painted: "All you who enter here, leave your troubles behind—

A popular cafe which rightly regards bar-checking as an importation has a coat room where patrons may deposit their wraps and select them afterward. In four years it has not had a single theft.

Take that dirty ring
out of your bathtub

AFTER a bath hard water leaves a dirty ring. The soap combines with the hardness and makes scum. The scum collects dirt. The dirty ring sticks to the sides of the bathtub. It has to be scrubbed off.

But soften the water with Melo and there isn't any dirty ring on your bathtub. Melo makes water de-lightfully soft and a wonderful cleaner with or without soap. It saves from 1/2 to 3/4 the amount ordinarily used. It makes soap more effective. Use Melo wherever you want soft water. Get it at your grocer's.

Love's Awakening

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affection

BY ADELE GARRISON

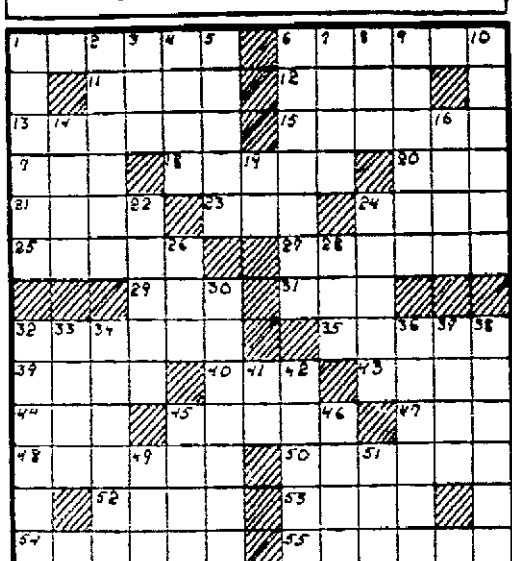

It was a long time ago, when I was a little girl, that I first met Dick. He was a boy, just a boy, but he was different. He was the only boy in our neighborhood who had a bicycle. He was the only boy who had a book. He was the only boy who had a girl. He was the only boy who had a heart.

I was a girl, just a girl, but I was different. I was the only girl in our neighborhood who had a bicycle. I was the only girl who had a book. I was the only girl who had a boy. I was the only girl who had a heart.

If I Were A Man If I Were A Girl

IF I WERE A MAN

I wouldn't hand out terms of endearment to every girl I met. I wouldn't preface every remark with "Listen dearie or look here, sweetness or how's the little girl?" I wouldn't call the waitress "Miss" or the mail carrier "Cutie" or the dance partner "Baby" and to tomorrow switch the terms around indiscriminately.

I wouldn't pass out sugar corn cobs to all of them in the mistaken conviction that that was the only form of conversation a girl could understand. I wouldn't take it for granted that she'd be flattered at hearing herself called by all the stock pet names of my vocabulary.

A girl doesn't enjoy being called "Little girl" by a man who's a perfect stranger—and sometimes she doesn't enjoy it when he isn't a perfect stranger either.

I'd wait till I'd known her awhile at least before I started handing out the sugar—and then I'd be sure she was the kind that enjoyed it before I began writing generous.

IF I WERE A GIRL

I wouldn't think of myself and my own likes and dislikes and be right on the job to spoil every party. If the boy friend took me somewhere to dance, I wouldn't develop a head ache at 10 o'clock or complain about the room being stuffy and insist upon being taken home when the party was in full swing.

If we went to the movies I wouldn't complain that my eyes hurt and leave right in the middle of the picture. If we went for a drive I wouldn't complain that my feet were cold or that something was in my eye and spoil everybody's pleasure by wanting to turn around and go home.

No matter how bored I might be and how unpleasant I found things, I'd try to be a good sport and see it through. I'd use a little bit of logic and reason that I'd had all I had got myself into the situation of my own free will and that it was up to me to suffer through it as gracefully as I could.

The poor sport soon finds herself with only her own company to complain about.

Famous Beauty Expert Tells Secret Of Lovely Hands

MRS. FRANK BUCKER BURNELL

NEW YORK, N.Y.—Mrs. Pearl Ecker Hubbard, dean of the National School of Cosmeticians, advises women on keeping their hands exquisitely white and smooth.

She says: "For women in their homes I can think of no better aid in protecting their hands than the use of Lux soap in all cleaning and dishwashing."

"In selecting the best soap for use in manicuring we chose Lux as gentlest to the hands. We use just a few of the delicate Lux flakes to make a bowlful of pure, sparkling suds. Lux cleans so gently and soothes the skin, keeps the hands beautifully white and smooth."

"Ordinary soaps may roughen and coarsen and dry the hands, but Lux is so pure, so gentle, that it never irritates or roughens the skin. It keeps the hands so soft and smooth that they are a joy to the touch."

"Lux is the only soap that will keep the hands so soft and smooth that they are a joy to the touch."

DISPEL ALL DOUBT

THERE are many reasons why it is utterly impossible for you to give your wash work the protection and preservation processes that this most modernly equipped laundry provides. For instance, you cannot buy in the stores a laundry soap as pure as the specially made soap we use. You cannot secure the degree of softness we attain in our scientifically processed water.

LADY BLUE BIRD TAKES TROT EVENT

SILVER GIRL ONLY FAVORITE TO WIN IN STRAIGHT HEATS

Queen Abbe Wins 2:18 Pace; Crowd at Meeting Larger

BY KARL R. McELROY
Sports Editor, The Star

Lady Blue Bird, after finishing fourth in the first heat of the 2:22 1/2 claiming trot, stepped out ahead of the mob in the final two miles to take first money in the opening event on yesterday's Short Ship card at the local fairgrounds.

There was a decided increase in the size of the crowd yesterday. That was due, no doubt, to warmer weather. An even bigger crowd is expected today and tomorrow.

Favorites won the races yesterday although several upsets occurred among the heat winners. The first surprise came in the first heat of the first race when Ned Kinwall, driven by Hagen, finished out in front. The favorite, Lady Blue Bird, was fourth in this heat but came back to cop the initial money. Abbe Heart took two seconds and a fifth in the race. The final heat was clocked at the best time of 2:12 1/2.

Queen Abbe was forced to run all three heats before being declared the winner of the 2:18 pace, the second event. Cartmell's horse led after the first turn in the opening heat never to be headed after Ohio King broke. Bennis Direct finished second driving up from seventh place. Third place in the heat was taken by Asa Armstrong.

In the second heat Bennis Direct, after being content to follow Queen Abbe until reaching the stretch, started to win the heat. Queen Abbe came back in the final heat to win the race.

Silver Girl, another horse from the Cartmell stables, was the only favorite to win in straight heats. Silver Girl was too fast for the other horses and was always out in front. Lee Storm took second money in the race.

Home-Run Hitters Lose Out As Gate Attractions

HOME-RUN hitters, as gate attractions, will soon be retreating at a dime a dozen if the present orgy of slugging in the big leagues continues. Current clouds have become so common that they are about as thrilling as taking the wife to a movie.

No less than 18 homers were hit in yesterday's games, swelling the total of both leagues to 408 for the season to date, as compared to 334 at this time last year. If the major league fence lusters stick to this mad pace, a new record total of 1,500 home runs will be set this year. The 1928 output was 1,093.

National league sluggers have contributed 211 of this season's 408 homers. Just a few men are doing the heavy slugging in the American loop. The Yankee home run twins, Gehrig and Ruth, and the Athletics' duo of Summons and Fox have hit more than one-fourth of the entire league total.

Pico home runs—two by the Holy-Pols Hack Wilson and one apiece by Hornsbey, Grimm and Grace—enabled the Cubs to snatch a 10-to-0 brawl from the Giants yesterday, snapping New York's winning streak of five victories and leaving Chicago a drop into fourth place. Homers by Terry and Housh of the Giants made it close.

The race tightened a bit, as the Cardinals got no better than an even break with Brooklyn and Pittsburgh walloped the Phillies again, 9 to 5. Bottomley's homer gave the Cards a 3-to-1 division in the opener but Brooklyn annexed the nightcap, 11 to 8, thanks to a pair of homers by Gink Hendrick which drove in five runs. The Cardinals now lead Pittsburgh by only 11 points.

The defeat of the Athletics by Detroit, 8 to 4, made the day a red-letter one in the American league. Philadelphia had won six straight games. Sorrell and Stoner pitched for the Tigers and Quinn and Orwoll for the A's. Homers by Heilmann and Shea aided Detroit.

The reorganized Yanks played errorless ball for four consecutive days and their starting pitcher has gone the route in each instance, impressive evidence of reform. Yesterday the erratic Henneery Johnson had a good day and won a 4-to-2 decision over Red Faber of the White Sox. Chicago swept the four-game series but face sterner opposition today from Cleveland, the only league rival they have not beaten this year.

The second-place Browns failed to take advantage of Philadelphia's defeat, losing out in the ninth, 8 to 7, when their pitching staff blew up, and Washington scored six runs. Walter

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

Game called end of 6th account darkness.

BETTING odds are even this morning that the Epworth Jrs. recreation ball team will have at least one more game completed by eight o'clock next Tuesday night. Last night in the first church league this team played its second straight tie game that was called on account of darkness. This time it was Central Christians and the fray went eight innings. One week ago last night the Juniors played a ten inning tie game with St. Mary's, this making 18 consecutive innings played by the Methodists, which have failed to give a verdict.

Epworth No. 1, St. Mary's and Christians are still in a first place tie. The first named has won three in a row and the other two have won two games and played one tie.

Calvary favorites to top the loop championship, had no trouble in defeating this Epworth Juniors last night by a 5-to-0 score behind the master hurling of Gruber. Gruber allowed just one hit, that coming in the first inning. The winners collected six bingles off Roy Rice.

A big fifth inning when five runs crossed home plate allowed John Clark's Epworth No. 1 nine to win their third straight game off the Baptists. Nine men went to bat in this frame and three errors and two hits did the damage. The Baptists jumped into a big lead in the first inning when they socked Bob Gamble for four runs. A seventh inning rally fell one run short of a tie when Appleget skied to right field with the tying run on base.

Exactly 25 men faced Gene Gruber as the St. Mary's diamond outfit mowed out Wesley M. E. 3 to 1. Coming allowed one safe hit, that coming in third inning by Baumgartner, the Wesley hurler. In addition to pitching one-hit ball Gruber won his own game in the third inning when he drove out a home run with Norris on base.

One bad inning cost the Epworth Juniors their game with Christians. In the second frame four hits and one error counted the Christians four runs. One of these hits was a fluke single back of second base by Johnny Rife that scored the last two runs. Twenty-four men faced Jones in the other seven innings.

Reinstatement of Iowa Denied By Big 10 Group

CHICAGO, June 5—Denied its petition for immediate reinstatement in the Big Ten conference, the University of Iowa today entered on an indefinite period of probation.

Meanwhile three disappointed Iowa delegates journeyed homeward bearing a statement from a committee of three, acting as a "supreme court" for the conference, stating that the Hawkeye plea for reconsideration of the athletic roster was premature.

"Time must elapse," the committee said in part. "This will afford Iowa an opportunity to demonstrate her ability to make the resolutions of her governing bodies effective and to demonstrate to the conference that she can correct present abuses."

The committee was composed of Prof. James Page, Minnesota; Prof. Thomas French, Ohio State, and Prof. G. A. Goodenough, Illinois. Questions asked the Iowans included whether the institution was able to eliminate the subsidizing of athletes and whether the athletic department was willing to disqualify all athletes who already have received improper financial aid.

DELAWARE, June 6—Members of Ohio Wesleyan's baseball team left early today for Oxford where they will meet the Miami university which will decide the Buckeye conference diamond championship and the Buckeye baseball season to close.

J. W. JACOBY ON BOSTON PROGRAM

Marion Man Booked for Address at National Convention of Realtors

J. W. Jacoby, Marion realtor and secretary and president of the Ohio board of real estate examiners, is on the program as one of the main speakers at the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, to be held in Boston, June 25 to 28.

State officials charged with the administration of real estate license laws will post their experiences at the convention and give talks on various phases of the subject. Mr. Jacoby's address will be on the subject, "Difficulties Encountered in the Administration of License Laws and Practical Suggestions Bearing on the Administration of License Laws."

This will be the third instance in which the license law commissioners have chosen the annual convention of the Realtors as the place to come together for discussion of benefits, administration and other problems attendant on the passage and enforcement of license laws. Twenty-five states and one province of Canada now have such legislation.

The Ohio real estate license law was adopted largely as the result of efforts directed by Mr. Jacoby.

M'DONALD ORDERED TO FORM CABINET

New Labor Government Will Succeed Conservative Ministry of Baldwin

LONDON, June 5.—King George, who is lying ill in Windsor Castle, today formally commissioned J. Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the labor party, to form a new cabinet.

The new labor government will succeed the conservative ministry headed by Stanley Baldwin, resigned.

Mr. MacDonald, who had been summoned to Windsor by the king yesterday, after the resignation of the Baldwin government had been accepted, arrived at Windsor castle shortly after 11 o'clock this morning just as the castle guard was being changed. He was accompanied by his son, Malcolm MacDonald, who was elected to the house of commons in the recent general election.

The laborite chief was received by the king's querry who immediately conducted him to the king's bedroom.

Mr. MacDonald wore a dark suit and derby hat and carried a furled umbrella.

FESS' SON IS FIRED AT NEAR HAMILTON

Two Bullets "Sing" Over His Head: Come from Passing Automobile

HAMILTON, June 5.—C. Sumner Fess, New York, son of the Ohio senator had today experienced Hamilton's manner of greeting persons who approach the city in automobiles.

At least, he has formed an opinion regarding the "welcome" shown him last night when he neared the outskirts of this city—the scene of recent gang warfare, where two alleged members of the underworld were riddled with bullets from machine guns.

Fess reported to Hamilton police last night that as he drew near the city limits on his way to Cincinnati, two shots were fired at him from a passing automobile, the bullets zipping past his head with the well-known "sing" that accompanies such missiles.

Perhaps the shots were merely notice that I was approaching the outskirts of Hamilton," Fess smilingly suggested to the officers.

The Last Word in Gas Range

It keeps your food safe —the temperature is well below 50...always!

For family health... for appealing menus... this is vital

In the General Electric Refrigerator the temperature is kept several degrees below fifty...always! Fifty degrees is accepted by scientists as the "danger point" in the preservation of food. When the temperature rises even a degree or two above that, bacteria multiply, foods become unsafe to eat.

Perhaps you think your own refrigerator is always "cold enough." You cannot be sure unless you actually take your refrigerator's temperature. It is constant cold which is needed.

Note these vital points of superiority

Countless superiorities give the General Electric Refrigerator its outstanding position... an hermetically sealed, dust-proof mechanism, mounted on top... an accessible temperature control... a new standard of quiet operation... no oiling... no troublesome machinery... simplified installation... no radio interference... an unqualified two-year service guarantee.

The new all-steel cabinets and the hermetically sealed mechanism combine to produce what we believe is the finest refrigerator ever made.

Not a dollar for repairs

More than a quarter of a million homes are enjoying the convenience, economy and health-guarding services of the General Electric Refrigerator. And not one of these owners has ever paid a dollar for repairs or service! This is a record in the industry.

The new all-steel General Electric Refrigerators are priced as low as $215 at the factory. A small payment down places one in your home.

Visit our display rooms—see the new models—you'll agree that they offer the greatest value.

Losses in Church Contest Entertain Winners

The Hustlers' club of the First Reformed church met last night in the church basement to carry out an agreement made some time ago about a contest between the two divisions. The Hustlers, the losing side, furnished the entertainment in the form of a banquet. S. H. Keller, captain of the losing side, gave a short talk on "How It Feels To Lose" followed by a response, "How It Feels To Win" by W. E. Bartholomew, captain of the winning side. J. H. Fletcher gave an interesting talk on "Stones," showing the building of life. L. R. Bonlder gave several musical selections, followed by two short talks by the guests of the club, City Prosecutor L. E. Patton and Mayor Huey Murphy. After the main part of the program each member of the class gave a short talk about some feature of the contest. The banquet was served by the Ladies' Bible class of the First Reformed church.

Remember—You can't paint a house with applesauce!

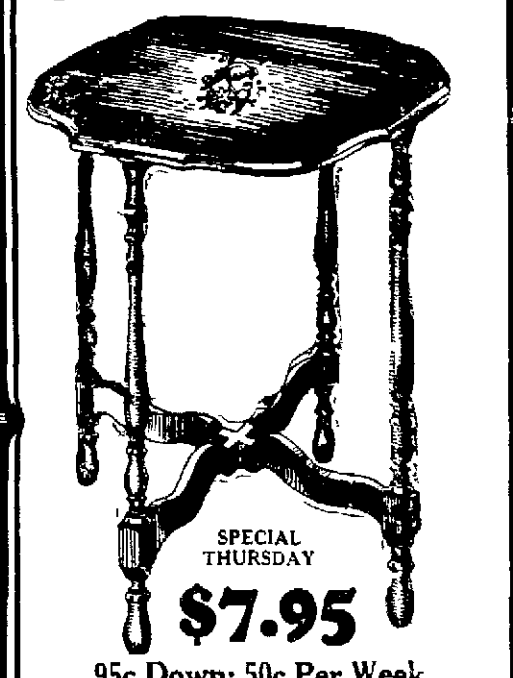

"Cheap" paint is low priced per-gallon, yes. But it isn't cheap on the wall. When you figure so-called "cheap" paint by the cost of the job, it's the most expensive you can buy. On the other hand, fine old SWP House Paint saves you money every time.

Because "cheap" paint covers so stingily, more gallons are needed on a job. Then it gives out so quickly that you have to pay the cost of repainting two, three, or even more times to SWP's once. And SWP gives you a rich, more beautiful job. For best results and lowest costs, use—

These same facts hold true for all "cheap" paints, varnishes, lacquers and enamels. "Cheap" paint products are never economical. Sherwin-Williams makes a "quality" finish for every surface. Use our Household Painting Guide to find the correct finish for your needs. We have a free copy of the Guide for you.

Flying Craze Proves Big Lure to Small-Town Boys

Above: a boy being thrown off catapult. Inset: Lindy the Lone Eagle who has inspired innumerable boys to study aviation. Left below: sketch which looks back a few years when men began to conquer the air in this early Farman biplane. Right below: mechanics working on the Green Flash plane to fly to Paris shortly in a race with The Green Flash, whose destination will be Rome. This flight is being anticipated with great interest by all aviators.

This romance in aviation apparently appeals more strongly to the young men of the farm and small town than to the city slicker who is a demon in a roadster but shies at taking both feet off the ground. This is proven by a survey which was recently made of the enrollment at the Aviation Service and Training School at Chicago, Illinois, which showed that of the 700 students 60 per cent are from small towns and farms. This can be considered a representative sample, as this school boasts one of the largest enrollments in the country. The percentage of female students enrolled at the present time is negligible although several have been graduated in the past. Just now there are four girls attending classes regularly. The students at the school have proven themselves unusually ambitious. Most of them take their training at night since so many are forced to work by day in order to get together enough money to take the air work. Instruction is decidedly thorough. Students are required to take 60 hours of ground work before entering the plane for instruction. This class work requires a complete knowledge of all phases of flying particularly what makes it so.

They are required to dismantle and reassemble four different types of airplane motors. In addition they are given thorough training in the construction of airplanes. Chosen in design draw plans for planes and then build them. The course even includes reconditioning, damaged planes and putting them back in the air.

As interest in aviation is ever on the increase the romance of it has an irresistible appeal which completely overshadows the possibilities of being hurt and no matter how many accidents are recorded the aviator always takes off with full confidence that he will not meet with a similar fate.

Particularly alluring to the small town boy is the craze to fly. The feeling of power which it gives him is equal to almost none other and in his own mind puts him in a class with the heroes whose pictures are constantly before him in headlines of all the newspapers as stimuli, examples of what he would aspire to be.

On the Streets of Marion

Variety of Emotions

SMILING is such a sweet sorrow, a quoth a bard. But it is all in the perspective. If you believe your eyes and ears on the streets of Marion this week.

Seniors of 1st and Harding High School and S. Marion's parochial high school are among those genuinely at heart at the thought of parting with their school chums and the pleasures and responsibilities they enjoyed as dignified or otherwise seniors.

Some (or hardly contain themselves) until they clutch their diplomas and have a chance to flip their caps at the teacher who their imagination has maliciously tried to flunk them all through the year.

Others, one girl in particular, a prominent girl at Harding, are seen sniffing at the mere thought of leaving themselves away from the friends and the traditions of school. Tears well up in their eyes at the thought of all the last meetings that must come between friends when college days take them miles apart.

It is all a matter of the way in which the student looks at the part.

Regulation Needed

STRAY bats and overcoats—summer creations and full coats. What doth the weatherman think he's doing, when he melts us one day and freezes us the next. Doesn't he know that all this constant melting and freezing will weaken our poor but precious bodies?

Thursday and Friday were ideal summer days. Trips to the lakes were planned, the planners went and froze trying to gather in enough wool to keep the grate bred.

Picnics were thought of and many small people gave up the thought when it began to cool off on Saturday while the more optimistic carried out their plans and were chilled to the bone trying to keep the table cloth on with one hand and juggle sandwiches, pickles, baked beans and a fire with the other all the while they were sitting on chilly ground or benches under waving trees.

If the thing would be up for popular vote, we believe that people who like northern weather would vote for more months of real winter weather and three months of warm summer for all of the benefits that Marion

Liverless Chickens

DRESSING chickens sold at some meat shops in Marion and other communities these days might lead purchasers to believe that modern fowls are fresh in their constitutional make-up. When delivered for the family table these fowls appear to have gone through life minus liver.

Even modern science has been unable to make a liverless fowl possible. However, the meat dealers are the ones responsible, and of course the livers are extracted for separate sale after the chickens have gone to their reward, whatever it may be.

Removal of the livers is said to be due to the big market demand for that edible and the high price at which it is quoted. The average buyer of a chicken does not miss the liver and if its absence is noticed a complaint is seldom made to the dealer.

Flashy Trimmings

SOMETHING on the order of Atlantic City and a bathing beauty contest. A local dealer in used cars and incidentally a dealer in bright and shiny new cars with sales rooms on North Prospect at certainly has the comfort of his buyers in mind at all times.

So careful as he of their physical comforts that a huge orange and green umbrella which might be suitable as an observation point at a beauty contest on a sunny beach has been set up in one corner of the lot.

Lecture for yourself the men about town who desire a second hand edition of the heavy-duty umbrella while the cars are driven past for review.

Good Advertising

MARION'S first Community Fund campaign went over with every element of success predominating in more than full measure. Now with the drive a matter of history citizens are having an opportunity of appreciating all of the benefits that Marion will derive from the project. The appraisal shows that there are certain to be valuable results in addition to those which appear on the surface.

Theme and apparent benefits have been thoroughly outlined and are generally understood. These include the adequate financing of important community welfare agencies saving of time and effort for all citizens who have been called upon to take part in campaigns in the past and last, but not least, development of a united and harmonious community spirit to a degree probably never equalled in the past.

Enthusiastic Marionites are now pointing out another helpful feature which cannot be overestimated. It refers to the advertising that has come to the city as the result of having gone beyond its quota with such a substantial sum and within such remarkable short space of time. Newspapers throughout Ohio and in other states carried reports of the campaign and its successful outcome.

Headlines read: Marion Community Fund over-subscribed or words to that effect. This local boosterism rubbed us, is bound to help in the same degree that news reports would have helped in the event that the fund campaign had ended in failure.

Fake Stock Promoters Losing Their Customers

NEW YORK—Many reputed men and women of financial means who in four years were the prey of fake stock promoters to the extent of $50,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 a year, are rapidly turning to legitimate securities, according to H. J. Kewer, general manager of the Better Business Bureau in New York City.

In the next few years it is expected that a large number of these several hundred of these fake stock promoters will be exposed.

Marquette

BUILT BY BUICK

Body by Fisher

"A GREAT PERFORMER!"

The motoring world has already endorsed the Marquette. "A great performer!" is the comment you hear everywhere when this remarkable new six is mentioned. And no wonder—10 to 60 miles an hour in 31 seconds—over the top of a long 11.6% grade at 25 miles an hour, starting at 5 at the bottom—all in high gear (The average road grade is 7%). 68 or 70 honest miles in comfort! There isn't a phase of performance where it can't show a clean pair of wheels to every car in its price class.

One word can say most about the Marquette—it's "VALUE." The Marquette with the latest Bodies by Fisher is America's most complete moderate-priced car. It is a thoroughly better automobile for the money. Throughout this great new six—in every feature, from bumper to bumper, from top to tread—there is more quality than seems possible to put into a car at the price. But it is there, because Buick knows how to build an extra margin of out-and-out goodness into all its products.

Drive the Marquette and you're bound to say, with all the others, "A great performer!"

Radio Music to Depict

THURSDAY PROGRAM FEATURE

Tribulations of Lovers

BY MAC L. ROY

BRIDES and bridegrooms who are to meet at the altar this month will do well to listen to the lovers' quarrel that will be depicted musically by the Seiberling Singers in their broadcast over the WEAF network of the NBC system at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

Besides being a dramatic lesson in what young couples should avoid, the program promises to be a rare musical treat.

"Wake Up Chillon" by Roberson, a modernistic negro spiritual, as sung by the Seiberling quartet, will serve as a prologue to the performance. The story will be taken up by James Mil-ton, tenor, who will be heard singing "Tootie" "Good-Bye," after which Frank Mack, musical director of the hour will play a piano solo interlude.

—an "improvisation" of his own. The "awakening" will come when the quartet sings Cadman's "At Dawning." Metcalfe's "Absence" as sung by Milton depicts "loneliness." Remberg's "Lover Come Back to Me," played by the singing violins, is, appropriately enough, the next piece. The quartet will draw the curtain on the hour with More's "Evening."

FORD, GLENN AND GENE FORM TRIO

A NEW radio team will appear on the air from WLW on Aug. 19 when Gene, Ford and Glenn of radio and vaudeville performers.

Both teams have broken all popularity records for long-time engagements at WLW and at radio stations in Chicago.

At WLW they will be on the air for at least an hour and a half every day for a month after Aug. 19. After that their air appearances probably will be limited to Fridays and Saturdays.

The withdrawal of Gene's partner, Jack Grady, was necessitated by the fact that his vocal chords became paralyzed after six months of radio and vaudeville performances.

DRAMA OF ALASKA GOLD FIELDS GIVEN

A DRAMA of the gold fields of Alaska will be given by the players in Arden when they broadcast their next program over the Columbia Broadcasting System at 7 o'clock Thursday night.

"SAX" QUARTET IS VEEDOL FEATURE

FOUR saxophones will harmonize on a special arrangement of MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose," as a feature of the vocal and orchestral review of classics and popular music to be heard during the Veedol program over the WJZ network at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

SOLOISTS APPEAR ON SLUMBER PROGRAM

FIVE instrumental soloists frequently heard in NBC broadcasts will be featured in the half hour of Slumber Music over the WJZ network at 10:30 o'clock Thursday night.

K. of C. Nine Cops Last Place in American Legion Tourney

Last place in the American Legion Junior baseball tournament rests on the proud possession of the K. of C. nine following its defeat by the Elks last night at Lincoln Park. 5 to 4 in five innings. Not an earned run was scored in the game. Each team got three hits but the right errors made the result uncertain.

The Elks scored their eight runs in two successive innings, five coming in the third and three in the fourth. The K. of C. scored five in the first frame but could not hold their advantage.

The score by innings:
K. of C. 5 10 16—4 3 2
Elks 0 3 2—8 3 0

OUTSIDER WINNER OF ENGLISH DERBY

Three Favorites Fail To Place Within Money at Epsom, Eng.

EPSOM, Eng., June 5.—An "outsider," Trigo, won the classic derby this afternoon and two other "outsiders" ran second and third.

Walter Gay finished second. Brian ran third.

Trigo is owned by W. Barnett. The three favorites, Mr. Jinks, Craydon and Hunter's Moon, failed to get within the money.

There were three entries owned by Americans, but they likewise failed to get a place.

For the first time in years King George failed to have a starter, his colt Glastonbury, having been withdrawn.

The score by innings:
K. of C. 5 10 16—4 3 2
Elks 0 3 2—8 3 0
